

Abortion is the same as slavery--You cannot be "for" one and against the other.

Samuel A. Nigro, MD,
Retired psychiatrist, ad hominem pamphleteer of samizdat.

Every culture has its contagious evils allowed by law and accepted by citizens as the common good. Once, every country had slavery; some countries mistreated women; some countries had communism and deprived all of personal property; some killed Jews or dehumanized others; in America, anti-Catholicism has always been accepted and anti-religionism is growing. Every country has its contagious evil accepted as a good. Today, abortion has replaced slavery--human DNA creatures, at a stage of life every human being PERSON-ally had to go through, are property belonging to others; without rights; deprived of personal development and independence; without the right to choose for oneself; declared "non-persons" by law; deprived of life, liberty and pursuit of happiness; not allowed "created equal;" without descendants; promoted as a "necessary good" when exploited, dehumanized and misused by others including scientists; and inhumanly proclaimed "good" whenever destroyed. Abortion has replaced slavery--they made it invisible. You would not have wanted, PERSON-ally, to be a slave or aborted.

	Slavery in America	Slavery in Islam	Abortion in America
Beginning Numbers (reasonable historical approximations)	450,000 imported from 1776 to Civil War from Africa to Americas	14,000,000 imported over 12 centuries from Africa to Middle East	200,000,000 unborn in utero in US since Roe v. Wade
Outcome alive/dead	4 million slaves freed by Northern whites in Civil War with, today: 35 million Negro descendants in the US alone, with 30 million living successful lives impossible to have achieved in any other country	All dead. (Worked to death or murdered and prohibited reproduction so that there are no Negro slave descendants today in historical Middle East Islam (How any Negro can become Muslim is bizarre.)	Over 50 million dead in US

Abortion is more like Islamic slavery with everybody dead, while slavery in the Americas became the irony of ironies: Negroes in the Americas with slave ancestors are the luckiest people in the world because, if anywhere else, they would be likely dead or destitute or trying to immigrate to the Americas. After living three years in many parts of Africa, Keith Richburg, when a correspondent for the Washington Post, in 1997, wrote a book, Out of America, A Black Man Confronts Africa. He wrote "Thank God my ancestor got out, because I am not one of them...In short, thank God that I am an American" (He was actually thanking "slavery."). And James Baldwin wrote, "The Negro has been formed by this nation (America), for better or for worse, and does not belong to any other--not to Africa and certainly not to Islam." As Representative Louis Stokes would say that he had been in every other country long enough to know that being born in America was to win the lottery if you worked to take advantage of what was available. He meant what Dr. Martin Luther King used to determine humanity: "the content of one's character," echoed by Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall as "the quality of intent." Humanbeingness is more than the quantity of melanin in one's skin. In time, those for abortion will be condemned as are those who were for slavery--human DNA creatures are being dehumanized. NOT HUMAN? SLAVERY BECAUSE OF COLOR....ABORTION BECAUSE OF SIZE...just more of "the huddled masses yearning to be free..."
